

SMALL DEALERS SQUEEZED OUT

Packers Used Unfair Tactics
Against Poultry and Egg Men.

IS CHARGE AT HEARING

Big Concerns Worked Under Cloak of Dummies, Asserts Heney.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Testimony introduced to substantiate charges that Chicago packers eliminated small dealers in poultry and eggs by unfair tactics, that they sought to increase receipts in their plants was introduced today at the inquiry of the packing industry before Samuel W. Tator, examiner for the Federal Trade Commission.

Francis J. Heney of the Federal Trade Commission attempted to show that the packers by setting up "dummy" firms and by underselling the small concerns had crowded many from the field.

He named W. F. Friebe, whom he charged with drawing a salary from Swift & Co., while serving on the Federal Food Administration for $1 a year, with being especially active in the campaign against small concerns.

He declared that the W. F. Friebe & Co., Chicago, reported to be the largest "dependent" butter and egg dealers in the country, and which he alleged is owned by Swift & Co., controlled a score of creameries and poultry and egg plants in Missouri, Illinois and Iowa, operating them under "dummy" names to make them appear as "independent" firms.

"This was done to fool the farmers and public," Attorney Heney said. "In reality all the concerns are owned by Swift & Co."

Friebe & Co. giving a list of their plants and buying stations in Iowa, which he said was seized by agents of the Federal Trade Commission from the files of the company after the management had denied any connection with the concerns, previously mentioned in testimony.

He then introduced a statement of W. F. Friebe & Co. giving a list of their plants and buying stations in Iowa, which he said was seized by agents of the Federal Trade Commission from the files of the company after the management had denied any connection with the concerns, previously mentioned in testimony.

that letters introduced in the Chicago investigation of the packing interests showed that the packers had guarded their interests by having employees accept positions with the Food Administration.

Mr. Hoover's statement follows: "On behalf of and out of consideration for the men referred to in the packers investigation at Chicago yesterday who are or have been employed in the Food Administration I wish to say that none of the men referred to has had anything whatever to do with the regulation or control of the packing trade. They are employed in other divisions and not now paid by the packers."

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES IN POST ROOM

Stricken as He Prepares to Don Medal Adorned Uniform.

A delay of only a few minutes prevented James P. Canfield, 73, civil war veteran, of 47 Brevoort place, Brooklyn, from dying last evening in the uniform of the United States of America, adorned with the medals he had won for valorous conduct.

Entering the rooms of U. S. Grant Post, 227, on Washington avenue, Brooklyn, the veteran was about to change his clothes for a drill being held in preparation for a parade next week when he was seized with a heart attack, staggered into the arms of his comrades and died almost immediately.

About his body a group of two dozen veterans stood with tear marked faces, paying a silent tribute to a comrade who was well beloved.

INTERBORO SUED BY CITY FOR $210,000

Illegal Bonuses Paid to Officers, Is Charge in Equity Suit.

B. R. T. A DEFENDANT, TOO

Allowance of $1,900,000 to Municipal Railway Is Also Called Unlawful.

An effort by the city to recover $210,000 which the Interborough Rapid Transit Company is alleged to have illegally paid its officials was commenced in Justice Lehman's part of the Supreme Court yesterday when an equity suit to compel restitution was commenced. Daniel L. Turner, chief engineer of the Public Service Commission for the First District, is named as co-defendant. It is charged that $1,900,000 was given to President Short of the Interborough as a bonus in connection with the subway contracts. Richard R. Rogers, an Interborough attorney, received $50,000, it is alleged.

Corporation Counsel Burr and Joseph A. Stover appeared for the city. The Interborough was represented by John H. Stanchfield, William L. Ransom, counsel for the Public Service Commission, appeared for Mr. Turner.

Mr. Stanchfield, who filed a motion to dismiss the proceedings, declared the suit was a result of the Thompson legislative investigating committee's work.

"The volatile and verbose chairman of that distinguished body," by his persistent up of English and his characterization of certain financial transactions as being in the nature of bonuses to the officers of the Interborough, unleashed the dogs of war, and the Public Service Commission for the First District immediately began to clamor for the institution of some litigation to recover these moneys," said Mr. Stanchfield.

He said on his motion to dismiss was reserved.

Immediately after Mr. Stanchfield had finished Justice Lehman heard a somewhat similar action in which the city seeks to recover $1,900,000 from the New York Municipal Railway Corporation. The money is alleged to be an illegal allowance made by Chief Engineer Turner of the Public Service Commission to the corporation, and Mr. Turner is named as a co-defendant.

The allowance is alleged to have been made on $100,000 worth of notes issued by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company on behalf of the Municipal Railway Corporation, on which the B. R. T. is said to have received 1 per cent.

Mr. Stover, of the Corporation Commission's office, who appeared for the city, asserted that Mr. Turner made the allowance illegally in a "prior determination." It would cost the city more than $1,000,000, he said.

Ex-Judge Nathan L. Miller, counsel for the defense, deftly suggested that the entire matter was simply one of bookkeeping. He held that the city would lose nothing, and that it could not legally maintain the suit. Mr. Ransom, told the court that he did not believe the complaint contained sufficient allegation of fraud to constitute cause for action.

Justice Lehman reserved his decision in this case also.
